WE LOOK FORWARD TO SEEING YOU THERE!

Many Factors Lead To A Critical Situation For Zeta Psi

Brothers:

As you can see from the reports of the undergraduates and the news flowing from Hanover, the combined effects of Minimum Standards, delayed rush, and enforcement of rigid alcohol policies are creating a critical situation for fraternities at Dartmouth, including Zeta Psi. While the successes of this year's rush and satisfactory compliance with Minimum Standards have removed the spotlight from our house, we cannot pretend that these problems don't affect us.

The reduced membership resulting from delayed rush, together with the increased cost of meeting Minimum Standards, has prevented the undergraduates from making timely rent payments to the elder corporation. These payments are calculated on the basis of property taxes, mortgage payments, and other operational costs. There is no cushion or excess, nor is there an endowment into which we can dip.

Therefore, as has been the case in the past and is more so now, we need your support in order to continue to pay our bills. The generosity of some of our elders has been phenomenal, and we thank them again. Just as significant, however, are the small, occasional contributions from many others, which allow us to meet our obligations on a timely basis. Anything you wish to give will be greatly appreciated and will help us remain in a position to choose what course to take rather than having the decisions made for us by others.

Rich Roberts '83

If You Build It, They Will Come

It was winter term. It was cold—perhaps too cold for some. The chill north wind whipped at faces and sent shivers through bones. The holiday smiles from the long interim break had all but vanished, only to be replaced by expressions of despair: it was cold, and everyone knew it would get colder. What was there to look forward to? Skiing, yes, skiing would be the answer, right? No, it was not to be. Despite bitter temperatures, no snow would descend this season. It seemed hopeless. Nothing could possibly cure the winter term blues.

Then it happened...a brilliant flash of light in the northern sky. The time had finally come once again. It had been so long. Had we forgotten the way? No, it all came back so naturally. It was like hopping on that bicycle on the first day of spring after not riding it all winter. Sure, the chain was a little rusty, but the thrill was just the same.

Rush had returned to the Hanover plain. After nearly two years without a full underclass rush, the time had come again. For those of you who are unaware or who may have forgotten, the administration delayed rush for undergraduates until the winter term of their sophomore year, effective with the class of '93. This year's rush, however, would be different from previous years'. Significantly fewer people came out to the houses this year. Several Greek organizations fared particularly poorly. In fact, six fraternities at Dartmouth pledged fewer than 10 new members. Zeta Psi, despite these numbers, did not lower its standards. When rush came to a close and the dust had settled, 15 new pledges were welcomed into the house. This spring, as rush continued, Zeta Psi boasted the largest turnout of any fraternity on campus. Eight new pledges have joined us for the spring, bringing the grand total to 23. The new faces have sparked new life in the house, and even the grand old '91s are smiling (despite the fact that they are still unemployed). Clearly, the '93 class of Zetes is a strongly, tightly bound group. All are eagerly awaiting their sophomore summer and a chance to run the house on their own. Summer officers are: Ethan Leonard, president; Scott Molinaroli, vice president; Brad Simanek, treasurer; Chuck Kayser, house manager; and Greg Schmolka, social chair. If you're in the Hanover area this summer, drop by and meet the new brethren. They would all love to meet with you and learn more about the old Zete.

But it's a beautiful spring day, and the outdoors beckons. I welcome all of you to come up and visit the newly renovated house and meet the brothers. Further, if anyone has any concerns or questions about the Psi Epsilon Chapter or the Dartmouth campus in general, please feel free to contact me at HB 471, Dartmouth College, Hanover, NH 03755; or give me a call at 603/643-1912.

Zete Takes Home The "B" Cup, Becomes New Puck Lodge

In case you didn't read in last week's edition of The Hockey News, Zete's IM hockey team captured the B-league championships. Zete opened the season with style, embarrassing a physical, yet inept, Beta club by an 8-0 score. Despite scoring five goals, forward Mike "Sunshine" Lazar '91 seemed unhappy with his performance. The team was soon brought back to reality, losing 5-1 to Psi Useless and 6-3 to the Gate.

Our boys were flying against Sigma ??? once again. Scott "Hazy Shade of" Gray '91 fed Bill "The Butcher" Thomas '92 to open the scoring. Later, pledge Greg King '93 (no relation to Elvis or Zoobah) fed Mike "I Wish I Were a Canadian" Swire '91, who put one on the top shelf to seal the Zete victory.

In the first round of the playoffs, the team struggled at first but eventually pulled away from a bunch of Tuckies, winning 5-2. Sean "Sluggo" Regan '91 was an immovable force on the Zete blue line (because he can't skate).

Next, Zete et al. squared off against a fast-skating Biospheres squad. The Z-lodge fell behind early (2-0) but roared back on three goals by some Chi Gam dude who was helping us out that night. In an overtime shootout, Gray netted the deciding goal, sending the team into the B-league finals. Pledge King was so excited by Gray's heroics, he jumped off the Zete bench and broke his wrist.

A rocking crowd of 40-plus turned out to see Zete take on Sigma ??? and its goalie, Lou. Many fans were afraid that the hometown skaters might be a little tired after returning at 6:00 a.m. that morning from a pledge "vacation" at Mt. Holyoke. "We" came out roaring, however, as Mr. Chi Gam opened the scoring early in the first. "Milk and Cookies" then fed Swire in the slot, and he deftly pushed a backhand beyond the reach of a perplexed Lou. (Lou was also at Holyoke that night). The Zete "D" then took over, shutting out the Who, 4-0. "Big" Bill Thomas ended the game with a monstrous crosscheck across the jaw of an unsuspecting Who player, who wilted to the ice.

In light of its recent championship and the Dartmouth men's team's dismal showing this year, Zete has been dubbed the new "hockey lodge" on campus. Several Heorot brothers apparently took exception to this, however, and have been seeking revenge. Luckily, Brad "Shock" Johnson '92 and Josh Stein '92, captains of the Zete brawling team, stand ready and willing to take on any challengers.

Our Alumni Write

RICHARD H. HOUCK '34 sends us his news: "I recently had a delightful luncheon with JAIME DURAND '91 and TEKE DILLENDER '90. I also attended a great birthday celebration for HOWARD GUSSENHOVEN '34 in honor of his 80th birthday at the Charleston, South Carolina, Yacht Club. I had a most interesting letter swap with MARV CHANDLER. STU BARBER '34 will be leaving his long-time residence in

Zetes Work Together Toward Minimum Standards

For the past two terms, the brethren have put forth commendable efforts toward preparing the house for the Minimum Standards review. A few ambitious projects were undertaken; most notable among these was the relocation of the pool table. The old TV room behind the bar was demolished by the "committee for a better basement," and the pool table was placed therein. After a few weekends of scraping the walls and an inordinate amount of ZipStrip, the pool room has finally shaped up to be a major attraction in the basement. Kudos to all who helped give the "tube room" a facelift.

Other projects include the refinishing of the banister and the reconstruction of the shower in the second-floor bathroom. We had a good indication that something was amiss when the ceiling of the library (underneath the shower, of course) began providing water for any and all passersby. A new volleyball net and (we hope) a new grill should round out things in the back yard.

When all the hubbub has subsided, Chuck Kayser '93 will take the helm as house manager for the summer term. He'll try to fill the shoes of last year's summer house manager, Dave Roberts '92. A hard worker as well as a knowledgeable handyman, Chuck should keep the house in fine shape. Chuck is also head of the "rebuild the grill" committee.

Although much remains to be done, we're confident that we will pass the Minimum Standards review with flying colors. With the continued spirits and extra-mile participation of all of the brothers, we should complete every project on schedule. Make sure to stop by to see the changes and shoot some stick.

We Hear From Our Alums

Arlington, Virginia, to take up residence in the country home he is building in mid-Virginia. JACK GILBERT '34 entertained the class of '34 with his jazz piano playing at its mini-reunion over the Penn Weekend." Dick can be reached at 112 Sumach Circle, Lookout Mountain, TN 37350.

"Keep up the good work in Hanover," pens WILLIAM B. BORSDORFF '39 from his home at 220 Country Club Dr., Tequesta, FL 33469.

SAMUEL C. WILLIAMS JR. '40 writes, "In his letter to you of last summer regarding 1940's 50th reunion, BILL COULSON might have added that three out of the eight Zetes attending were in good enough shape to be part of a 'fast' game of tennis Saturday afternoon. Not too bad for a group of 70-plus-year-olds!" Sam resides at 12 Chaucer Rd., Short Hills, NJ 07078.

Send belated congratulations to Anita and DOUGLAS P. BRIDGE '41, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on January 3, 1991. "It has been a wonderful life together!"

Zeta Psi Continues Involvement With Campus And Community

The past two terms of programming activities at Zeta have been targeted at the college's 1990-'91 programming theme, "Connections: Individual Involvement With the Global Community." During the winter, we cosponsored a spaghetti dinner with Tri-Delt in Brace Lounge. After the dinner, which raised about $500 for the Norris Cotton Cancer Center, Professor Rassias spoke on cultural barriers and the importance of learning another language. Some of the alums may have heard from us in January, when the brothers volunteered to help with the Dartmouth Alumni Fund. The top two solicitors for the day were none other than Mike Swire '91 and Ethan Leonard '93. This event allowed Zetes not only to help the college but also to exchange personal perspectives of the college with alums from all parts of the country.

Other events occurring during the winter term included our participation in the Red Cross blood drive and cosponsoring a singing performance by Spontaneous Combustion with Russell Sage/Butterfield dorms. Thanks a ton to Sean "Sluggo" Regan '91, who offered his signature to all pledgi who donated blood—that extra encouragement really made a difference.

This spring has brought the house a new pledge class and with it the nationwide concern about hazing. Accordingly, we held an informal talk at the house that dealt mainly with the Coed Fraternity Sorority Council's (CFSC) statement on forced behavior. Nearly all pledges and concerned brothers were in attendance in an effort to get the facts straight. Other events planned for the spring term include the house's participation in the Tuck School's "Run for the Kids," a five-kilometer fun run to benefit David's House, Upper Valley Youth Services, and Mary Hitchcock Child Life Program. Rumor has it that even our ex-Phi, Rodg "Kodiak" Cottrell '91, has begun training for this cardiovascular spectacle.

Over the summer, Scott "Pepperoni-Zucchini-Ravioli-Manicotti" Molinaroli '93 will take over as Alpha Phi and continue Zeta's involvement in both campus and community projects. A bike ride to benefit the Norris Cotton Cancer Center is already on the schedule, and Scott should have no problem finding more programming for our '93 Zetes while he holds the reins.

More News From Our Alumni—

"Three kids are better than two, but only two can ski (so far)," writes DOUGLAS A. COGSWELL '77. "Daniel (8) keeps mom company, Heather (4) is just learning, and Brenna (1) keeps the nursery bed warm. That's family skiing. Call or stop in if you're in the New York City area (29 Phillips Lane, Darien, CT 06820)."

Drop a note to JAMES J. MAGUIRE '83 at his new address of 73 Riverbrook Ave., Lincroft, NJ 07738.

Contact MICHAEL C. SALZHAUER '84 at 589 Broadway, New York, NY 10012. He writes, "I want to report a death. Deceased is the last hair on the nearly-bald, now fully-bald pate of PETER 'Mudpack' BURACK '83. In lieu of flowers, please send minoxidil."

Congratulations to DENNIS MCCOOE '86 and Theresa Donaghue '85, who were married recently. MICHAEL KONG '87 served in the wedding party. The McCooes live at 111 Eighth Ave., #2, Hawthorne, NJ 07506.

Weddings bells also rang for ROBERT C. HOLLISTER '89 and Darshane Patel. They have moved to a new home at 87 Pleasant St., Newton, MA 02159.

ADAM H. LEHMAN '89 writes, "I am trying to save the world by working 20 hours a week at the Harvard Law School Legal Aid Bureau; however, this summer I will abandon all my ideals and self-respect and head to sunny L.A., where I will work in the vacuous and selfish world of entertainment law. I will be at O'Melveny and Myers in Century City if anyone wants to reach me out there." Adam is currently living at 64 Garfield St., Cambridge, MA 02138.

Drop a line to ROSS P. WALLER '89 at 259 Chestnut Hill Rd., Wilton, CT 06897.

Send your greetings to R. KENDALL MARRA '82 at 11640 Kiowa Ave., #208, West Los Angeles, CA 90049.

Reporting a change of address is WILLIAM LEVIN '90: 1111 N. Dearborn, #1805, Chicago, IL 60610.

CRAIG S. NOLAN '90 and Kasie Henderson '90 will be tying the knot on August 10, 1991. DAN TOAL '90 will serve as best man. The newlyweds are planning a move to Virginia. Send best wishes to Craig at his current address of 35-1506 River Dr. S., Jersey City, NJ 07310.

Send mail to TODD THAYER '90 at Thayer School of Engineering, Dartmouth College, Hanover, NH 03755.
